Water Awareness

JOURNAL

Water Used

September 15, 2016

What is Imagine A Day Without Water?

- Imagine A Day Without Water is a national education campaign to engage public and key stakeholders about how water is essential, invaluable and needs investment. It takes place September 15, 2016, and includes events, resolutions, social media engagement and more.
- Water and wastewater providers, elected officials, stakeholders, business leaders, contractors, engineers, and more, who are concerned with water and water infrastructure are invited to join.

Who can participate?

- BJWSA has recruited local municipalities, schools, our customers and the media to participate in Imagine A Day Without Water.

How can you imagine a day without water – and keep all your friends?

- How many friends and co-workers may abandon you if you don't have your morning coffee or a shower? Use your imagination, and BJWSA's Water Awareness Journal, to track the water you actually use September 15. Simply calculate your use per activity, and tally the number of gallons per day. When you're done, send the total to Lou Brown at loub@bjwsa.org or Pam Flasch at pamelaf@bjwsa.org. We'll be reporting our participants' results on our website, Facebook and Twitter, as well as in the winter/spring edition of our company newsletter.
